"What's the news in Rock Port," aid the News reporter to a gentleman rom that place this morning.

"Well, I don't know of anything particular. By the way, I can give you some points about our railroad if you will promise me on the square that my name shall not appear in the paper.' "All right. The promise is given. Now fire away."

"You will remember that a short time since a local company was formed with the object of building a line of railway from Sioux City, Iowa, by way of Rock Port to St. Joseph The local company, of cour-e, did not have the money to baild or the intention to do so, but the object was to work up the matter, secure the co-operation of the towns and cities along the line and secure what subsidies it could and then by an arrangement with some of the trunk lines have the line built. This, the plan on which all new roads and extensions are projected was well worked up along the line, a fair amount in subsidies guaranteed and the matter was then laid before the officials of the Rock Island. They looked into the matter, examined the scheme and pronounced it teasible and told our folks to lie low until after the Kansas extensions were built. As far as the majority of people are aware, the matter rests there, but to a chosen few it is a well known fact that the $1.00. matter has not been allowed to fall to the ground. It is only a day or so since a civil engineer returned from a 25c. tr'p along the proposed ine in which he estimated the grades, cost of construction, etc., and his report is very favorable indeed. With the exception of the Savannah hill he reports the highest grade at not over sixty-four feet. The route he transfer at the factors and places to receive their facts. which is and has been hers. This proposed line wid traverse one of the richest sections of the state of Missouri, and will have from the time the first train rolls along its rails, a fine and lucrative local traffic. The through traffic will be immense. The natural channels of trade follow the great Missouri valley. Railway competition will develop this trade, will build it up and change us course to LOWER PRISES and through the city of St. Joseph. The News believes that when called upon the people of St. Joseph will take hold of the scheme and push it for every dollar there is in it. The tide of St. Joseph's fortune is now at its flood and she should take every advantage possible. -St. Joseph News.

elor who knows little of the realities of married life. His conclusion that the wite should be the mental superior is admissible. But there is no seed for his charitable advice, that allowances should be made for the facts that the minds of wives are set on home and chi dren. The abandonment of the wife to her home and family are perhaps her greatest charm, as they are her greatest virtue. The number of intellectual g dats who would have their wifes talk sciences and metaphysics after dinner is happrly very small. And, perhaps, the most successful and crost renowned of our modern philosophers are those who do not feel the pittful necess ty of making allowance for the women, who properly set their minds on home and children; but those who recognize that abandonment of the women to those wifely and maternal daties constitutes their happiness, and who try try to share it. The entire intellectual world is by no means short up in studies and books. The modern philosopher finds a wor'd of intellectual study and instruction in the companionship of his wife and children.

stood as saying that purpokins any more than mangel-wurtzels or any other roce all corn for the complete dev-lopment of the animal. They are the next best substitute for grass the best we can get in winter-and should be more extensively raised. Not that when fed alone at any s-ason of the year they P. Hostetter's can be made to take the place of corn, for they contain too little of the fat and for they contain too lit-le of the fat and fish forming constituents to mate a complete ration of the animal; but as winter food for growing hogs they are grand adjuncts to grand feed of any sind, as well as a most excellent corrective of the bowels. The stomach of a pig under six month old has not the digestive entirety to assimilate harmonious development of fours. As well might we epect yearing calves, wintered on straw, to develop into propeform. They may hee on it and grow plenty of paunch, and that is all; but there is not nutriment enough in such food to keep up the animal heat, without which there can be no exceptete development of form. Like pigs confined to grass or vegetable diet there is bulk enough and to spare in food, but it is not composed of constituents as will meet the demands of nature in the full development of the carea-s

On the other hand, pigs as we as caives fed on grass alone have their digestive organs so disarranged by the overproduction of fat as to prevent the fall development of the system. We say such food is too heating, and so it is when fed alone; but that is no reasor why we should jump at conclusions and denounce it while running wild over puniskins, mangel wurtzels or anything else. They both have their place in judicious feeding, and in the winter time, when there is no grass to be had, stock require along along with their corn fool something more acculent and easy to digest. To diustrate: A ton of corn in the car contains but 228 pounds of water and 348 pounds of nitrogenous, albuminous and fitty matter, while a ton of pumpains contains as much as 1,880 pounds of the former and only twenty-eight pounds of the three latter. A ton of oats contains only 260 pounds of water and 610 pounds of nitrogenous, a buntinous, and fatty matter, 2 da ten of mangel-wurtzels contains 1,170 pounds of the former and only thirty-two pounds of the three latter. It is evident, the ?, that we cannot profitably feed pumpkins or mangel-wurtzels alone, but their chief value is as a complement to grain food. In other words, we cannot make fat and muscle as cheaply with pumpkins and mangels as with corn and out-But as corn is too heating and constipating a total when fed by itself, and pumpkins and mangels too washy, veience, and common sense both tell us SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for to feed enough of each if we would have Similarion, Lessof Appetite, Dozine-Sand al a complete ration. It is from such a symptoms of Despejsia. Price he and 75 cents per hottle, For sale by Hinde & Philbrick, Orecourse of feeding that the best results come, whether for health or profitable growth.
